1. your client's competitor secretly offers you money to share findings from a penetration test you conducted for the client. Analyze this scenario in terms of professional ethics, confidentiality and potential legal consequences.

This scenario involves a serious conflict of intrest and breach of Professional confidentialty.

1. Professional Ethics :-

As a penetration tester, your primary responsibility is to the client who authorized the security assessment. Accepting money from the client's competitor in exchange for confidential findings is unethical because :-

- It create a conflict of interest.
- It violates professional integrity and trust.
- The competitor is attempting to obtain information they are not authorized to access.
- A security professional should protect the client's interest and sensitive informations

ethical action :- Refuse the offer and do not disclose any findings

2. confidentiality :-

Penetration - testing results commonly contain sensitive information such as:

- Security vulnerabilities
- System weaknesses
- network information
- Exploitable configurations
- Credentials or sensitive data

discovered during testing.

• Recommendation and remediation details

3. Potential legal consequences:-

Sharing the findings without authorization could potentially result in:

• Breach of contract (or) violation of an NDA

• civil liability for losses suffered by the client

• employment (or) Professional disciplinary action.

4. Correct course of action:-

The penetration tester should:-

1. Reject the competitor's offer.

2. Do not share (or) sell any findings

3. maintain the confidentiality of all Client information
